

CAMPAIGN SHOWS MUCH INTENSITY

IN THE CLOSING DAYS—MILWAUKEE COUNTY ARROUSED.

DEMOCRATS MAKE BIG GAINS

In State Metropolis But Do Not Accomplish Much Throughout the State.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Milwaukee, Nov. 3.—If this was the last day of the campaign, the Democrats would have made a big gain in Milwaukee, but they have not accomplished much throughout the state.

Always there are plenty to talk back of the disgraced republicans to the democratic standard but the trouble is the democrats have no real standard to rally to. Of course, they have a state ticket but in thirty-four counties they have no county ticket and have been forced to rely on independent democratic nominations to make even a fair showing.

When the disgraced republicans always talk loudest before election and some way or other fail to really count at election.

Milwaukee county conditions cannot really be considered any criterion of the campaign in the state as a whole. The conditions here are somewhat mixed. The Social Democratic party has made great strides in the past but it is questionable if their success in the municipal election last spring was more than a rebuke to the "gang" that has so long divided the public offices in Milwaukee, city and county, between republicans and democrats to the detriment of the citizens generally.

It is the state vote that is going to count. Governor, the republican nominee for governor, will certainly be elected as will all the republican state tickets. There may be a reduced majority as to winning the state but this is expected owing to the fact that the democrats are expected to defeat him by the state central committee itself but nevertheless it is expected that he will sweep through with the rest of the ticket. In fact, but for this republican major the democrats would have no real chance this year any more than they have had for years past when the "fair minded" members been supporting La Follette.

This Hancock matter is one that is intensely interesting to politicians just at present. The state central committee of the republican party have repudiated him and are doing all in their power to defeat him and elect Crowhart. Just how strong their power is remains to be seen but it is certain that it is a merry warfare now and when the final reckoning comes it will be a serious handicap Cochrane's efforts to defeat Berger and Carnoy in his congressional aspirations in Stoughton's old district and is not helping Gary in the Fourth against Gaylord.

One of the latest developments in this campaign comes from Mr. Gunderson, Democratic opponent of the primary. Gunderson was third in the race, failing a few thousand votes behind Hancock. Had it not been for Gunderson's appearance in the field it is certain that Hancock would have been nominated. Gunderson says of the situation as follows:

It is words of denunciation of a deceased person. In the following communication I wish only to bring to light certain facts connected with the "stamped envelope case" as will clear myself from the charges of a "political frame-up" against Mr. Tucker, and at the same time to partially show the reprehensible connection of the present independent candidate for Attorney General therewith.

It will be remembered that three or four days before the last primary, Mr. C. H. Crowhart, from his headquarters at Madison, sent broadcast throughout the state, thousands upon thousands of letters and telegrams calling upon the people of the state to vote for Mr. Tucker in order to vindicate him. What was Mr. Crowhart's real object in sending out those letters and telegrams? He must have known at that time that the charges he leveled in the "envelope case" were true. He must have known that approximately seven thousand stamped envelopes belonging to the state had been addressed in his own handwriting. Tom Nelson's attention had been called to the fact that the seven thousand stamped envelopes were in the hands of the returned and different state offices and that the returned was concealed by stickers. Mr. Nelson was one of the assistant managers in Mr. Crowhart's office. (Before Mr. Crowhart sent out those letters and telegrams he was informed by my attorney that the evidence as to the truthfulness of the charges was overwhelming. His real motive in calling upon his faction of the republican party to vote for a deceased person for Attorney General was to secure the nomination of Attorney General for himself from the committee. Under these circumstances he is a proper person to be voted for by Attorney General of the State of Wisconsin.)

Did not the people of the state have a right to know before the primary whether Frank T. Tucker was innocent or guilty of the charges of using state property? In his own political campaign? Did not I have the right before the primary, and have not the right at this time to have the stamping of a charge of a "political frame-up" of the nature removed from me? In the last three weeks I have been in six or seven counties of the state on professional business and I find that wherever I go there are some people who still believe that I was implicated in a "frame-up" and that Frank T. Tucker was innocent, although on page 8.)

MARTIAL LAW IS ANNOUNCED DOWN IN HONDURAS NOW

Gunboat Princeton May Take Hand in Revolution if Government Can Not Handle Affair.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3.—Martial law has been declared in Honduras as the direct result of the revolt of Gen. Valladares, the deposed commandant of Amapala against the government, according to cable dispatches to the state department today from Minister McCreery.

The port of Amapala has been closed and the island is in a state of siege.

The United States gunboat Princeton is in the harbor at Amapala ready to take a hand in the revolution at the first sign of hostility towards foreign interests.

President Davila will send an armed force against Valladares, and in the event of the government's failure to restore order the United States will probably be asked to interfere.

It would not be surprising if Commander Hays of the Princeton, acting under instructions from the state department, should send an armed force ashore at any time to take Valladares into custody.

MANY NOT SURE OF THEIR TOGAS

U. S. SENATORSHIP CONTESTS ARE NUMEROUS.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Terms of Thirty Members Expire Next March and There are Three Vacancies Caused by Death.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3.—Contests for members of the United States Senate are adding great interest to the present campaign, because the much involved in the results of next Tuesday's election as in the control of the lower branch of Congress.

The senate is so organized that at no time can a majority of its members or more than a third, in fact, go out of office. But, though the personnel of only one-third of the membership is to be changed—a strong possibility exists that the control of the upper house may pass away from the conservative republicans into the hands of the Democrats and insurgents. That some of the regulars will be succeeded by insurgents is already assured and the Democrats likewise seem certain to make some senatorial gains.

The senate consists of ninety-two members. Next March the terms of thirty of these members will expire. Their successors will be chosen by the legislatures to be elected next Tuesday.

There are now three vacancies in the senate, caused by death—Mr. Daniel, of Virginia, and Mr. McNary, of Louisiana, both Democrats, and Mr. Dolliver, Iowa, Republican. The men who will be chosen to succeed them will undoubtedly be of the same political faith as their predecessors.

Twenty-four of the senators whose terms are about to expire are Republicans and six are Democrats. The twenty-four Republicans are: Messrs. Aldrich of Rhode Island, Borah of Idaho, Bulkeley of Connecticut, Burkett of Nebraska, Culliver of Michigan, Carter of Montana, Clapp of Minnesota, Clark of Wyoming, Davenport of New York, Dick of Ohio, Dyer of Delaware, Platt of California, McChesney of North Dakota, Hale of Maine, Keen of New Jersey, La Follette of Wisconsin, Lodge of Massachusetts, Nixon of Nevada, Oliver of Pennsylvania, Page of Vermont, Pile of Washington, Scott of West Virginia, Sutherland of Utah and Warner of Missouri. The death of Senator Dolliver will make necessary the election of his successor this winter, so that there are really twenty-five Republican senators whose places will have to be filled.

The six Democratic seats to be made vacant are those of Texas, Virginia, Mississippi, Tennessee, Maryland and Florida. Senator Frazier of Tennessee is the only one whose reelection appears to be at all doubtful, but his friends are confident that he will pull through. Senator Culberson of Texas and Senator Hayden of Maryland will succeed themselves. John Shanley Williams has already been chosen to succeed Senator Money of Mississippi. A primary is soon to be held to select the successor of Senator Taliaferro of Florida. He will, of course, be a Democrat, and a Democrat will likewise succeed to the seat of Senator Daniel of Virginia.

The future in regard to the Republican seats cannot be forecasted with the same degree of certainty. The reelection of Carter of Montana, Clapp of Minnesota, Sutherland of Utah, Clark of Wyoming, Oliver of Pennsylvania and Lodge of Massachusetts is believed to be assured, providing, however, the next legislatures of their respective states are Republican. Aldrich of Rhode Island, Pile of Washington and Flint of California are to retire voluntarily. Their successors in all probability will be Republicans.

Page of Vermont has already been re-elected. Dick of Ohio is believed to have a hard fight on his hands. Borah of Idaho will succeed himself if the Republicans control the legislature, which is not at all a matter of certainty. Scott of Virginia is believed to have about an even chance and the same may be said of Dyer of Delaware, Bulkeley of Connecticut, expectants to succeed himself despite the predictions of Democratic success and the rival candidacy of ex-Governor McLean on the Republican side. The result in Nebraska is doubtful, though present signs seem to point to a Republican Burkett. A Republican will in all probability, be chosen to succeed Senator Dolliver of Iowa. The seat of Senator Keen of New Jersey is in doubt and also that of those two may be shelved even though the next legislatures in their states may be Republican.

Burrows of Michigan, Pile of Washington and McClure of North Dakota, all conservatives, will be succeeded by insurgents. Hale of Maine will be succeeded by a Democrat and the same fate probably awaits Warner of Missouri. La Follette of Wisconsin will probably be his own successor. Nixon of Nevada will also probably pull through.

A careful survey of the situation indicates a net loss to the conservative Republicans of five seats, with the possibility of six more being added to the list. And of course, if there is an old-fashioned landslide coming, such as swept the Democrats out in 1892, the Democrats may even make more gains than there have been here indicated.

PHONE MEN INSPECT JAMESVILLE OFFICE

President Alonzo Burt of Wisconsin Telephone Company and Party of Officials Here on Auto Trip.

That Jamesville is to have one of the finest, most complete and up to date telephone systems in the state is evidenced by the interest that President Alonzo Burt of the Wisconsin Telephone Company is taking in the new building and equipment for the local office. Mr. Burt and a party of the executive staff of the company are inspecting the local plant today, having travelled by auto from Milwaukee, leaving there Tuesday and stopping on the way at Whitewater, Holot and intermediate points. With Mr. Burt are H. O. Seymour, general manager, W. R. McGovern, chief engineer and L. Kilham, general superintendent of plants. The Jamesville building which is in process of construction will cost when completed some eighteen thousand dollars and when fully equipped with the new central energy telephone will mean the expenditure of something like $85,000 in all. Mr. Burt believes the building will be finished by January first, but the erection of the new switch board and installation of the new phones will take another six months so that it will be July first of next year before Jamesville has all the changes complete. Aside from being a valuable addition to the city, the installation of the central energy telephone, which means the doing away with the ringing of the bell to get central, will be welcomed by business men generally. The only remaining question relative to the proposed improvements is the laying in of the underground conduits for the local wires and this matter is pending before the council at the present time. Mr. Burt stated that he did not care to discuss the matter personally as it was being cared for by the attorneys for the company. He trusted that the city and the company would be able to get together before too late to lay the wires this fall and thought not hereon. He also thought that they would when the true facts under discussion were fully understood. The officials so far from Lake Michigan, Stoughton, Madison, Lake Mills, Jefferson, Watertown and Oconomowoc before returning to Milwaukee.

WAR DECLARED ON WILDCAT INSURANCE

State Insurance Commissioner Will Investigate Concerns That Sell Policies by Mail.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Nov. 3.—In fulfillment of his "declaration of war" on so-called wildcat insurance companies operating in this state through the mails, Commissioner of Insurance George B. Beadle today announced that his department has begun to look into the affairs of the J. F. Knight Audit and Abstract company, which has been doing considerable business in the state, especially in Milwaukee, with a new kind of "analysis" of policies. He also has requested the federal postoffice department to look into the matter, with a view to determining whether the company shall be allowed the use of the mails, hinting at criminal prosecution if found necessary.

In a communication addressed to a Milwaukee complainant, whose name is withheld for various reasons, Attorney L. A. Anderson of the department goes exhaustively into the company's methods of doing business and claims that the company's prospectus is "wholly at variance with the facts." He analyzes one of the company's "abstracts" of a policy in a well known company, by which the abstract company attempts to show the comparative value of the policies of still another insurance company. The fact also is cited that this company recently lost a suit in Detroit when it attempted to have a man pay for its services in auditing a policy, the court holding that the pretended savings offered by the concern were "fictitious."

On Oct. 20, the commissioner issued a warning to policyholders of Wisconsin through the newspapers and stated that the department will cheerfully furnish information to any policyholder who will take the trouble to write for such information. In this case, however, the "persistency of the operators" and the gravity of the alleged offense caused the department to take more vigorous steps by calling upon the federal government for aid.

To Handle the Large Amount of Work in Local Yards of the North-Western Railway.

That the largeness of the Northwestern railway has increased materially within the past few weeks is shown by the fact that yardmaster J. J. Burns found it necessary to add another switching crew in the yards, making six crews, four days and two nights, that are engaged in switching about the yards. The new switch engine was put on at seven o'clock, Engineer Ohlin, Fireman Uran, and Switchmen Hebrant and Shackley are working on the job.

These are busy times for the railroad men. Every man in the service running on the road or working in the yards, who is able to work, is allowed but little leisure and a long extra list is a thing of the past, almost forgotten. On account of a shortage of switchmen, but two men could be supplied for the new switch job, where three men are usually required. Train crews incoming are ordered to stop as soon as their work period is up and as necessary frequently to take the crews and engines from their regular runs, giving their work to an extra crew, to facilitate the handling of trains.

CLOTHES MAKE THE MAN

or at least they have everything to do with his appearance. No man can afford to be otherwise than well dressed. A perfect fitting suit can only be obtained by having it built to fit you. Ask yourself if it can be done by a tailor or a number of tailors - a hundred or a thousand miles away. Yet when you buy a hand-made suit you get a suit that was intended for the first man that would come along and buy it. You get a suit without that individuality that marks the well dressed man. Our suits are all different because they are built for different men. Yet each one shows that same skill and care in the making.

The time is here for you to order that winter suit or overcoat. Don't delay. Prices $25.00 to $50.00.

GOOD NEWS FOR PRESIDENT TAFT

HEAD OF REPUBLICAN CAMPAIGN COMMITTEE PREDICTS VICTORY TUESDAY.

G. O. P. TO RULE THE HOUSE

McKinley Writes to President Giving Optimistic Views on Outcome of Next Week's Election—Other Encouraging Reports Received.

Washington, Nov. 3.—President Taft has received a letter from Representative W. B. McKinley, chairman of the Republican national congressional committee, in which he takes a most rosy view of Republican prospects at next Tuesday's election. Mr. McKinley has been optimistic from the very outset of the campaign and his letter to the president regarding the situation is enthusiastic to a marked degree. He declares that what some people recognized as a Democratic year in July will turn out to be a Republican year in November.

"It gives me great pleasure to inform you," says Chairman McKinley, "that every sign points to Republican control of the house of representatives in the Sixty-second congress. This information is based on what I believe to be reliable reports from practically every one of the 'doubtful' districts. We have made and are making substantial gains in districts which we lost in the election two years ago by a narrow margin."

Receives Encouraging Reports.

The president made the letter public without comment. But it is known that Mr. Taft not only has marked confidence in the political judgment of Mr. McKinley, but that this letter bears out reports that have reached the White House from other sources. Simultaneously the president received reports that the tide has turned in Ohio and that in New York a strong current has set in favorable to Stimson.

There has been a stiffening up in Republican ranks. The final week of the campaign is to be made memorable by the participation of all the administration big guns in the fray. Believing that the psychological moment has arrived for snatching victory from the enemy, a concerted effort is to be made from now until next Tuesday to put squarely before the people what is believed to be the real issue at stake in the campaign.

Cabinet Members Are Active. Under the program that has been arranged big national issues will be pressed upon the voters until the hour of voting arrives. Secretary of State Knox, Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh, Attorney General Wickersham, Secretary of Agriculture Wilson and Secretary of Commerce and Labor Nagel have all taken the field on their own initiative, and in Ohio, New York and the other states where vital fights are being waged, the people are to be asked to uphold the hands of the president in the partially completed effort he has made to carry out the reforms which the people approved two years ago.

Philadelphia, Nov. 3.—Henry C. White, a recluse who died on October 26, left practically his entire estate, valued at about $150,000, to his coachman, Joseph H. Some Peanuts. America, even if it were not for the citrus, cuts more peanuts than any other country in the world. We do not seem to be even able to supply our own demand, as during 1907 and 1908 Japan exported 17,000,000 pounds of peanuts, and the major portion of them came to this country.

Too Little Regard for Others. One of the greatest mischiefs of the present day is the spirit of go-as-you-please which prevails. Walter E. Hauser.

Funeral services for Thomas F. Palmer, an early settler of Rockford, Ill., and identified with the hardware business there for over fifty years, were held in that city this afternoon. About eight years ago he purchased the property south of the Blind Institute now known as "Overlook," where he has since lived in retired life. He was born in Pittsford, Vermont, June 8, 1829, and was married in 1859 to Miss Sarah Wilewoll of Rockford, who now survives him. Mr. Palmer's thoughtfulness of others, a quiet and kindly disposition, and his sterling integrity made friends of all with whom he came in contact. Mrs. Harry Winter of Rockford, Mrs. E. L. Waugh of Chicago, and the Misses Helen and Grace Palmer of Rockford and Miss Ella Lee of Janesville are nieces.

RULE AGAINST "RETURN RATES."

Commission Announces Findings in Western Freight Controversy.

Washington, Nov. 3.—The Interstate commerce commission announced its findings in regard to reduced rates on return shipments on all roads in western classification territory. The opinion, in general, disapproves of the returned shipment rates, but justifies reduced rates for the return of freight which has been refused by the consignee.

"Transit arrangements in their common form," says the commission, "are susceptible of abuse only upon the theory that the inbound and outbound movements are part of a single continuous transaction, but there is no real connection between an outbound shipment today, and a return shipment one year hence."

IOWANS ARE HELD FOR LARCENY

Men Accompanied by Two Young Women Arrested in New York.

New York, Nov. 3.—Peter C. McMartin, a young farmer of Beman, Iowa, who says he is worth half a million dollars, and William J. Adolph, a young machinist of Des Moines, Iowa, were arrested when they arrived at the Grand Central station, on the telegraphic request of the Des Moines police, who charged that they are wanted for the larceny of $1,400. Two pretty and well-dressed women, who were mentioned in the telegram and said they are Mrs. McMartin and Mrs. Adolph, were taken to police headquarters with the men, but later were allowed to go to a hotel.

Both prisoners denied knowing of any larceny.

THE CIRCULATING MEDIUM.
Statistics show that the total stock of money in the United States on July 1, 1909, was $2,339,709,673, of which $1,034,384,414 were in gold. The total computed stock on Oct. 1, 1910, was $3,474,469,686, and of this amount $1,083,398,050 were in gold.

Added to this amount is the $500,000,000 of emergency currency held in the government vaults to meet any unusual demands and prevent a money panic similar to the one which occurred in 1907.

The silver dollar is rapidly disappearing from circulation except in the South, because of its bulk and weight. In the eastern cities coin of this denomination is a curiosity and it is rapidly disappearing in the West. The result has been to create an unusual demand for one dollar bills, and as the treasurer has no authority to increase the circulating medium, Secretary MacVeagh has been at a loss to know how to meet this demand.

He finally decided to call in the old greenback issue of $20 bills and replace it with one dollar certificates. This has led to some criticism, as the greenback is payable in gold, and considered sacred on that account.

The original issue of greenbacks now outstanding, was $346,681,000, with about $77,000,000 in denominations above $10, and of all denominations the amount in the Treasury on October 1st was only $5,325,879. Very probably some of the banks which hold the $13,345,000 still outstanding in denominations of $1,000 will be willing to exchange them for notes of $1. If this resource was not availed of, it is difficult to say where the Secretary could find means of meeting the demand for notes of small denominations.

The short session of congress will not be able to do anything with the monetary question and the treasury is warranted in planning to meet requirements without regard to new legislation.

THE COST OF GOLD.
The argument is sometimes used that the overproduction of gold cheapens its purchasing power, and thus contributes to the cost of living, and yet the world's output of gold this year represents less than one twentieth of the value of farm products in the United States alone, covering the same period.

The successful gold mine is freely exploited while the failures seldom come to the surface, and thus it happens that the cost of producing gold is difficult to estimate. A financial journal, in discussing the question, says:

"There is a distinguished mining engineer in the United States today who has seriously contended that, so far as the nations are concerned, the rewards in the search for gold are utterly out of proportion to the cost. He has even maintained that when the waste of prospecting, fruitless experiment, deep level mining machinery too expensive and too costly to run—when these and a number of other things are considered that it probably costs the world about $2 in capital and effort to secure $1 worth of gold."

"Of course the successful gold mine realizes the dreams of avarice, but people who talk about the reduced cost of producing gold conveniently ignore the failures. We suspect that this is one of that string of fallacies more or less related to the unsound quantitative theory of money, which is not very far from the root of this wide popular error. As a country we are fond of talking of our successes, our wonderful showing of the products of the soil, the treasures of the mines. We say a good deal less about the capital we waste in abandoned enterprises."

"The money lost is just as valuable, dollar for dollar, as the gold secured, which is only partially repaid, and there is little danger that the standard of value will be destroyed."

"Rates of wages and hours of employment of English bakers will be fifty-four hours a week of employment and the minimum wage agreed upon last year was $2.78 (28.78) where two men are employed under him, and $3.51 ($3.51) where more than two men are employed under him."

"With single hands the wage per week is to be $3.00 ($3.25), second hands $2.50 ($2.71) and other hands, over 23 years of age, $2.50 ($2.50) and from 21 to 23 years of age $2.50 ($2.50) per week. Men called in to assist at such times are to be paid $2.50 ($2.50) a day. For overtime a foreman is to receive 75c (15 cents) per hour, single hands 65c (13 cents), and other hands 60c (12 cents). These rates to come into effect the first Monday in December. American workmen have still something to be thankful for."

No one objects to the tariff on imported luxuries except the people who pay the freight, and they are so largely in the minority that but little attention is given to complaint. The import of luxuries into the United States is grouped by the Bureau of Statistics into twenty-one classes, which totaled $101,300,000 in 1909, $225,000,000 in 1907, and $250,000,000 in the fiscal year 1910. Diamonds and other precious stones headed the list with nearly one-fifth of the whole. People who wear diamonds can afford to pay for the privilege."

If Chicago society women have taken up picketing as a pastime they should take a day off and seriously consider results. This sort of sentimental sympathy contributes to unrest and lawlessness, and is liable to culminate in a repetition of Los Angeles' recent experience with dynamite. If the garment workers have grievances there is a better way to settle them than parading the streets and jangling riots."

The Tampa cigarmakers' strike which has been on for the past four months, and which resulted in riots and lawlessness, has at last been settled by the citizens who were obliged to establish the enforcement of law and order through vigilance committees. Tampa has suffered a loss from which it will be slow to recover as some of the best factories and many employees have left the state."

Crude rubber in London, Monday, touched the low level of the year, with the best grades quoted at $1.35 a pound. Manufacturers here expected the downward movement to continue with the large auction of plantation rubber in London today. Even at these low figures there is no indication of any heavy buying. This will be good news for automobile owners."

The city has long wanted an underground telephone system, and the initial work along this line, proposed by the Wisconsin Telephone company, should be encouraged, and not opposed. It would mean in the end 20 miles of underground wire, and this is certainly desirable."

THE POET PHILOSOPHER
BY WALT MASON.
(Copyright, 1909, by George Matthew Adams.)

I'd fair be so successful that people, when I pass, will say: "He's worth a million—he puts up lots of grass!"
The men who're worth a million find people bowing low, and there are smiles and greetings wherever they may go. I'd fair be worth a million, and so I'll do my best, to help along the luckless, and comfort the distressed; some portion of my income I'll hand out to the poor, and keep the wolf from howling at some old woman's door. I'll attend no complaints, or quarrels or useless whines, but pack around the village a mug that fairly shines. I'll stand up strong for virtue—the good old rugged sort; I don't believe in making an angel of a sport; I don't believe in virtue so horribly severe it frowns on all the follies of this old dizzy sphere. I'll teach my native village with my senses reed; I'll keep my shoulders ready to put them to the wheel; I'll knock all day on knocking, and kick the klickers down, and try to be an asset in this three-cornered town. And then I'll hear a murmur from "prelative folk": "That man is worth a million, although he's going broke!"

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

DO NOT BE AN INDIAN.
The American Indian, it is said, never forgets an injury.
Do not be an Indian.
Life is too short to spend the best part of it as an Indian.

The faculty of forgetting needs to be cultivated as well as the faculty of remembering.
Disagreeable things will happen, and he is wise who trains himself to wipe out the memory of them, just as the boy wipes the figures from his slate that he may begin over.

Having wiped the annoyances from the slate of memory, write thereon the things worth while.
He who, for the sake of revenge, treasures up a wrong and broods over it, will have a cancer in his heart; he who nurses an injury in order that he may resent it, will have a festering sore.

It is better not to "get even." Let Nemesis punish the wrongdoer.
Can he be happy who conceals within himself a constant tiger ready to spring and rend his victim? It is better to forget.

If you be determined to engrave deeply on the tables of your memory the records of some real or fancied wrong, you can do so. You can harden your resentment. You can have your ugly thought of vengeance until your inner life is ugly.

But, do you know you are thus putting yourself into the power of your enemy who, by his mere presence, can make you miserable? Because hatred—like love—concentrates on the hated. It hurts the hater more than the hated.

Learn how to forget. Learn to let go the things that are not worth remembering, the things that depress and weaken you, the things that if held close to your life will embitter it.

And hold fast to the things that cheer and brighten and help you on. No single room in your heart was ever built where bitterness should abide. Wipe it all out. And on the clean slate trace the things that are true and pure and just and lovely and of good report.

If some mortal, careless, or ignorant, or cruel, has put some slight upon you, or injured you, forget it. Forget it! Do not be an Indian.

It is bad enough that the poor Indian, should forever skulk in ambush, hating and seeking his foe, keeping always in his heart the implacable feud.

You are no Indian. Forget it.

It's worth a good deal to any man or woman to be able to walk into a store and ask for underwear and know positively before any question is asked, or any information given, that they are going to get exactly the right thing. It's more important in underwear than most things, because so many feel uncertain about quality and value.

Buy Janesville Cigars
And Make More Money
Fostering Home Industries Means That Every Dollar You Spend For Local Goods Means Ten Times More Prosperity For Janesville.

Supposing there was a new factory coming to Janesville, employing some 500 men and you were appointed as one of a delegation to meet them at the train. Would you go to the depot with a banner around your arm saying: "Get out, we don't want you in Janesville?"
Of course you wouldn't; you'd boost Janesville for all you were worth; yet on the other hand you oftentimes, perhaps unconsciously, buy goods that are not made in Janesville and which, figuratively, say in a hundred ways: "Get out of town Mr. Manufacturer, Mr. Laborer in the Janesville Factory, and you women and children depend on them, I don't need Janesville Made Goods, I buy goods made out of Janesville!"
Why do you do it? You only hurt yourself when you do. Foster home industries and you are making more money for yourself. One dollar spent with the local dealer for local cigars means eleven dollars in circulation for eight days; that dollar you paid out passed through the hands of ten more people in about a week as figured out by monetary experts.
When you buy trust cigars that dollar leaves this vicinity and you are only hurting yourself. Is there any reason why you should not buy Janesville Made Goods? Of course not!

DENTAL TRUTH

Unless the food is properly masticated, and is finely chewed and well mixed with the saliva, it enters the stomach in a condition unfit for digestion.

As a consequence, the digestive organs are overworked, and the body is not supplied with proper nourishment. How important it is, therefore, to take proper care of the mouth and teeth.

From an artistic standpoint, no face is so beautiful but that bad teeth will mar it, nor is any face so homely that well-preserved teeth will not lend an aspect of refinement.

Let me look over your mouth, and supply your Dental needs.

FIFTEEN SLEEPERS AT CITY LOCK-UP

Registration List Last Evening Included "Jap" Dorsey and Jim Reynolds, Veteran Cracksmen.

Show that lasted over-night and the positions of fifteen "sleepers" for lodging at the city lock-up signalled the arrival of the real old winter yesterday. Two of the wandering shoe-string merchants and professional hoboes were "the Jap" and James Reynolds—one time famous safe-blowers who are now crippled by disease, advanced years, disfigurement, exposure to the elements, and other vicissitudes of adventurous careers.

Reynolds was one of the gang, including William Houston and Charles Phillips, which was routed in "the Villows" on the Illinois side of the state line near South Beloit in June, 1897, by three deputies appointed for the purpose by the Illinois authorities. This gang gave the deputies, Chief Appleby, and the other Beloit officers a running gun fight clear through the city, and three of the deputies received bullet wounds, though none were fatal. Houston was captured near the paper mill. Phillips took refuge in a coal bin near Chief Appleby's Beloit home. Reynolds got away but was caught at Rockford as he was disembarking from a freight train. All three were sent to the Joliet penitentiary for fourteen years. Reynolds and "the Jap" expressed an intention of departing for Madison this morning.

DEMOCRATS PLAN FOR BIG RALLY TONIGHT

Gathering at Myers Theatre First Political Speechmaking in Janesville During Present Campaign.

This evening the democrats of Janesville and Rock, plan for a rally in the interests of the democratic state ticket at the Myers theatre. This is the first political gathering of the present campaign, since the September primaries. Mr. Dougherty, the democratic candidate for attorney general, is to be the orator of the evening and if possible Congressman Welles, who is a candidate for the United States senate is also to deliver an address. Mr. Welles was not certain he would be here but Mr. Dougherty arrived this afternoon to confer with local leaders. While there is no regular democratic county ticket, all the candidates for this party who failed for a place on the regular ticket owing to the twenty percent law, have filed individual nomination papers as independent democrats. The Imperial band is to give a concert before the address.

Through A. A. Cleveland, her attorney, Mrs. Nellie Ames, wife of George H. Ames of Clinton, has started in the circuit court an action for $7,500 damages against Patrick Keough, a bartender at the Hotel Clinton, for alleged defamation of character. Three separate causes are alleged in the complaint and the dates on which the slanderous statements are alleged to have been made are given as Jan. 25, Jan. 28, and August 16, the last one in the hearing of Edward Jackson and W. New York, Nov. 3.—"Tom," Frank

It appeared that "Tom" meant $10,000, end her suit against him for alleged breach of promise of marriage. Miss DeVoe had demanded $200,000 to

MR. HORSE OWNER,
This Is Meant For You!

Are You Getting the Most Out of Your Horses? Are You Making Them Pay You the Dividends They Should and Would Pay You If They Were Fed On

Case's Molasses Feed

When you buy horse feed the most valuable thing you pay your money for is Protein. Protein is the flesh and muscle building element that replaces the daily waste of tissue. It does more to keep your horse in good condition and make him a profitable worker than any other element taken into the system.

Numerous tests of Case's Molasses Feed by the University of Wisconsin show it to be richer in Protein and Fats and to contain less fibre or waste than any feed on the market today. It is composed of corn, barley, bran and molasses and is not as expensive as oats to feed. It is not as "heating" as corn and a few weeks of good, steady diet of this feed will make every horse you own as hard as a rock and capable of doing more work than ever before.

Think of it, over four hundred farmers in Rock county are feeding it and not a single case of dissatisfaction. Horses doing heavy teaming and delivery work here in Janesville are fed on it and they are always in the pink of condition.

Read what Doctor Perschbacher, V. S., of Janesville, one of the best authorities in Southern Wisconsin, has to say:

"I have fed Case's Molasses Feed for over three years and I find it is the best feed for the money I have ever used. I have found it very effective on old horses, mares with foal, sickly colts, and in fact any stock that is in a run-down condition."

"If it is fed intelligently it will build stock up, fatten horses and enable them to do twice the work on much less feed."

"Case's Molasses Feed is by far the most economical feed for any horse owner to feed. Yours truly,

"J. PERSCHBACHER, V. S."

Case's Molasses Feed is NOT AN EXPENSE BUT IT IS A POSITIVE SAVING to feed it BECAUSE THE INCREASED PROFITS WILL PAY FOR THE SMALL OUTLAY MANY TIMES OVER.

We back the above statement with a positive guarantee and you will get your money back if you do not find it to be the best and most economical feed for your horses.

Don't wait till the feed bin is empty—mail or phone for a trial order today.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

I WANT to have a little chat today with the people who write letters to me suggesting subjects for me to talk about in this column.

And the first thing I want to say and the most emphatic is—THANK YOU.

Of course I'm "delighted," as our good friend of the obvious truth would say, to know what you people want discussed in this column.

An actor, no matter how good his talents and his intentions were, would probably find it hard to please if he played in an invisible and inaudible audience, and that's what we writer folks are always doing. So you can see that my epistolary echo of the feelings of that audience is always very welcome.

And never more so than when it brings a constructive suggestion.

Please keep it up, you folks who have taken enough interest in me to suggest some topics you'd like to hear discussed. And please take it up, you people who have thought of something that "would be good for Ruth Cameron to write about," but haven't quite gotten around to putting it down on paper and sending it along.

One more "Please." Please don't be offended when I don't write to the topics you suggest.

Such as I'd like to oblige, that isn't always possible. It isn't that the subjects aren't just as good as many of my own. It's just that I'm not a penny in the slot machine into which you can drop a coin and inevitably get a half column of remarks. I have to feel that I have something to say.

For instance, sometime ago someone asked me to please write on "The detectable and filthy habit of chewing gum in public." I haven't complied with the request because it seemed to me that anything I might say would be so ridiculously obvious. I don't believe I have a reader who doesn't know that it is bad form to chew gum in public, and anyone who does it in spite of that knowledge, will undoubtedly continue to do it, no matter what I may say.

I am also asked to write about some special cases which do not seem to me to have enough of the universal in them to make them dependent, the instance. After writing about the unkind way in which the dependent, an unkind aunt or helpless grandchild or grandnephew, is often treated—an unkindness which I think anyone will admit is entirely common—I was requested to write about "the person, entirely dependent on a man for absolutely everything, who, on being taken into his household and asked to become a member of the family and take his share of the family life, declines to do so, but perpetually demands to be treated as a guest of honor, acting haughty if not treated, who, in short if not always and ever considered before everyone else rubs warts to any friend or stranger willing to give ear to his complaints."

Such people may exist, but I certainly don't think the type is common enough to make a denunciation of it helpful or interesting to any large number of readers.

I am also asked to write on subjects which cannot be treated in a general way because they are of a class in which "circumstances alter cases." For instance: "How late a man should stay when he comes to call." "How long a time ought to elapse between a first and second marriage."

My correspondents occasionally inquire, "Do you live up to all you write? If so, you must be an angel."

Of course I don't.

The lines of conduct I suggest are my ideals. Do you know anyone who lives up to all his ideals?

But I think I can truthfully say one thing. I never write anything I don't thoroughly believe.

charming gift than a dainty shirt waist. It may be made plainly of fine material or it may be embroidered. It is all a matter of taste. The main point is to give one made of finer material than the girl would probably feel able to purchase.

The list of gifts from an expert needle woman is limited only by her time. She has at hand an artistic power of creation which is of inestimable value. Even men appreciate her gentle craft, and women and children will find with delight the additions to their toilet which they long for, and need, but for which they have neither time nor talent.

Do not then feel that because you are only a needlewoman that you are barred from art work. There is nothing that will give greater pleasure, a set of lawn evening dress for a man in a dainty washable case will be a new gift. Men like linings—if they are not made public. Embroider them on the masculine belongings in hidden corners. A cover for shirts in the value is a gift which should be developed in washable material. For those men who are members of your own family a set of pajamas of warm material with linings on the pocket flap will be welcome. These need not be very expensive, but should have a dainty finish.

A bath robe of some of the heavy blanket materials may also have an embroidered finish. Make the robe long enough. The trouble with those you buy is that they are usually too short if they fit the shoulders. The robe should have a wide collar, good strong materials and in his collar colors as well as down his shirt. He will also appreciate a fine large embroidered banner to wave when the athletic team meet as much as the sorority girl. Even the high school lad and lass will like such a gift. Hooded in warm, thin woollen cloth lined with contrasting shades of satin will please the girl who skates, or rides, or walks. These are new to the crocheter ones and are just as pretty. If not prettier. Begin today if you have not already begun. You will find the time short even at that.

OUR RIGHTS AND OUR DUTIES.

By MARY RUSSELL.

"I think that every man or woman has a right to do as he or she pleases," said a very excellent woman to me. "I don't think it is my business to speak to any other woman about how she keeps her house, or how she raises her children, or her religion, or her morals. I have all I can do to attend to my own."

She felt very virtuous and complacent as she sat back in her comfortable chair surrounded by the refinements of a lovely home. She knew she and her family to be safe. She would attend to their religion, and their morals, to their health and to their manners. She wished no evidence and she would resent the offer of any.

It is the old story—Sam I my brother's keeper?—As you are my friend, you have more to do than just the duties imposed by your four walls. If every woman, and every man did that duty there would be nothing left for you to do. There would be no advice to give, for there would be no problem of life—provided you are making no mistake in the plans you have outlined for your own family.

What of the thousands of people who never have had a chance for any of the refinements of life? Are the children in those homes to be allowed to tumble up any way and perpetuate the vice of the world? Surely not!

Men, women, and children must have some teachings to make them desirable citizens. They have to be taught the meaning of right and wrong. They must be made to understand why a man may not lie, and cheat, and steal. To do those things with skill is the height of attainment among some of our citizens. That skill and the desire for a living must be diverted into courses more profitable to the community. If it is a necessary business then how are these avenues to be adjusted so that the great machine of existence shall run smoothly?

"Organized charity," saith my lady! What is organized charity but the banding together of individuals for the uplift of the many?

It is somebody's work—who are you that you shirk the labor? Are you arrogating to yourself a virtue that you do not put out a hand to save an unknown child from a plunge over a precipice? You would hold yourself a murderer if, without a thought of whose child or whose duty, you did not save that child from destruction. Is a moral precept any the less great and real?

We are all willing to shift the burden to the shoulders of another. And others will do it, somehow, and in some way, but if we would all assume some of the duties, results would be attained more rapidly, and life would be happier for the greater number soon, rather than late.

It takes time to go into a poor woman's home and tell her how she can make it better. It takes charity to understand her limitations and judge kindly her deficiencies. What kind of a housekeeper would you have been had you tumbled up in a shack with a household of other children and had never been taught either order or cleanliness? I fear that neither morals nor manners come by instinct. We must be trained, and it is the duty of each individual to lend a hand.

Don't try to interfere or belittle the efforts of others. Do not imagine that because you know a right way, that you know the only right way. Do not forget that in the breast of the other woman beats a heart full of love for her own, just as yours is full of love for yours.

We are all in need of some kind of training. Some of us need to be taught to be clean. Some to be moral. Some to be industrious. The biggest and hardest lesson to learn—the lesson which is of value to rich and poor—to educated and ignorant—to high and low, is the great lesson to be kind. Kind in judgment. Kind in criticism. Kind in heart. We repeat often, "and do unto others as you would that they do to you." We think we mean it. We try, in a feeble way, to live it, and yet, every day, men and women alike forget what the words really mean. It is not all contained in the two short words—"be kind." And it is kind to forget, and to shirk our duties to those less favored in worldly wealth and moral training? Is our duty to ourselves all that is required?

Fortune in Waste Product.

As industries grow older the profits get smaller and human ingenuity is forced to do what it might have done all along. It hadn't been too lazy—save the waste matter, or at least make a great reduction in its total. The French people are not more saving than American because they are brighter, but because they have been forced by circumstances and necessity to be. Perhaps that explains why the great steel corporation has just awakened to the fact that it has been throwing away hundreds of thousands of dollars by letting the ore dust from its steel-making operations go to the waste dump and be there neglected.

A process has been discovered by which this ore dust can be compressed into briquettes and utilized for making pig iron. The dust is bound together with a composition composed principally of lime, which acts as a flux in the smelting process. Along the terminal railroads of the Carnegie Steel company, just one branch of the United States Steel Corporation, are 200,000 tons of ore dust piled into 4 mps. Iron ore is worth $4 a ton, and pig iron, which is made from the ore, is worth considerably more.

Lesson for the Children.

The Kitchen Cabinet

God never wastes anything. God never forgets anything. God never loses anything. Though he holds the world in the hollow of his hand, he will yet remember each of us, and the part we are fitted to play in the eternal drama.

—Anna Robertson Brown.

The Onion.

Mine eyes smell onions, I shall weep anon. Onions will make even heirs or widows weep.

Are we a little more appreciative of the much-abused bulb when we remember that it belongs to the lily family. Those who tolerate the onion are horrified at the mere mention of garlic. Onions, shallots, garlic and chives all belong to the same family. They are all wholesome and may be served in many appetizing ways. The objectionable odor which they impart to the breath is due to the volatile substances absorbed by the blood and carried by the blood to the lungs, where they are set free. The shallot, garlic and chives are used principally to give added flavor to food. The leaf is often used, as is the onion, as a vegetable. Onions are rich in flesh-forming elements, are soothing to the mucous membranes and are otherwise medicinal.

To prepare onions for cooking, if they are peeled under water they will not cause one to weep.

If one has never eaten an onion unpeeled, thrown on coals and roasted until tender, served with a generous portion of butter, well seasoned with salt and pepper, there is yet something to live for.

Fried onions are considered a great delicacy, though they are most difficult of digestion.

Onions friend with sour apples is another very appetizing dish which is usually liked.

Try stuffing large onions that have been parboiled, the centers removed and stuffed with sausage or any chopped meat, seasoned.

Glazed onions are a novel way of serving the vegetable. Parboil small silver-skinned onions, put in a baking dish and bake until with highly-seasoned brown stock. When half done sprinkle with sugar and brown.

Onion soup is another very good dish. Have ready one cupful of onion pulp which has been cooked and put through a sieve, add to scalding milk and seasonings, bind with butter and flour, a tablespoonful of each, and serve after cooking four well.

In No Combine or Truss

By Rose Terrell.

It is not nearly early enough to begin making Christmas gifts. You should have begun on January 1, to get ready good results, but if you have put the work off till this late day, study to simplify it by making as many gifts of one kind of material as possible.

Study the needs of those to whom you will give presents. Think how you can please them and at the same time not make too great a task for yourself. The woman who detests Christmas about December 20, and on up to the day which should be full of happiness, is the woman who has neglected to prepare for it in due time.

There is a story of a woman who prepared all her gifts even to the wrapping and writing of sentiments weeks before the holiday and then missed the glad rush which has become so much a part of the week preceding December 25. Perhaps this mystery and hurry are needless and you can easily get it by doing some public work at that time. It is a season when almost every one is so busy in pursuit of personal pleasures and gifts, as to have no time for the great public dinners and festivals for the homeless and sad. If your own work in out of the way you can give the time with a clear heart and an unharmed spirit which others glad will give thanks to your own holiday making.

Give great gifts that bestow by generous spirit's touch.

Leather work is not new, but there are new uses for it. Make things that you know are needed and try to be original in design if you are artistic, but be very sure of your powers for there is nothing more disastrous than to give crude work to people who love you. They are bound by their love and desire to save your feelings to use the gifts you give, no matter how deeply you have offended their artistic taste.

the refinements of a lovely home. She knew she and her family to be safe. She would attend to their religion, and their morals, to their health and to their manners. She wished no evidence and she would resent the offer of any.

It is the old story—Sam I my brother's keeper?—As you are my friend, you have more to do than just the duties imposed by your four walls. If every woman, and every man did that duty there would be nothing left for you to do. There would be no advice to give, for there would be no problem of life—provided you are making no mistake in the plans you have outlined for your own family.

What of the thousands of people who never have had a chance for any of the refinements of life? Are the children in those homes to be allowed to tumble up any way and perpetuate the vice of the world? Surely not!

Men, women, and children must have some teachings to make them desirable citizens. They have to be taught the meaning of right and wrong. They must be made to understand why a man may not lie, and cheat, and steal. To do those things with skill is the height of attainment among some of our citizens. That skill and the desire for a living must be diverted into courses more profitable to the community. If it is a necessary business then how are these avenues to be adjusted so that the great machine of existence shall run smoothly?

CARROTS AS INSOMNIA CURE

London Physician Declares Vegetable Will Induce Sleep When Other Remedies Fail.

London.—That carrots for insomnia.

A large, properly cooked carrot for supper will induce sound and refreshing sleep.

That was the opinion given by a well-known London doctor.

"Carrots differ from other vegetables in that they contain a large amount of various sugars," he said.

"Properly cooked, they are sweet and pleasant to the taste; they are also carminative—that is, they promote digestion.

"In its sleep-producing qualities the carrot is closely allied to the onion, and as a supper dish for insomnia patients it is to be strongly recommended.

"It has also been ascertained that the carrot is excellent as a nerve tonic and a mental stimulant. There can be no doubt as to its peculiar properties for inducing sleep, but they should not be eaten raw. They are very indigestible uncooked."

A lady who is an enthusiastic vegetarian gave one of the best recipes for cooking this vegetable.

"Carrots are best cooked 'conservatively,'" she said. "By this I mean they should be cut in strips and allowed to simmer, with butter, in a double boiler. No water should be added.

"By this method all the valuable juices and properties of the carrot are retained instead of being thrown away with the hot water, as is done when they are boiled.

"For supper this dish is most appealing—a poached egg is a dainty addition. It is a meal which I know from experience induces slumber.

"The many good qualities of carrots are overlooked by the public. They not only induce sleep, but are excellent for the complexion as a consequence of their tonic effect on the blood."

LARGEST TURTLE IS 'LANDED'

St. Louis Fisherman Captures Snapper Weighing 37 Pounds—Measured 36 Inches.

St. Louis.—John Frerichs, of 1627 North Broadway, made almost a record catch when he landed a snapper turtle measuring 36 inches in diameter and weighing 37 pounds at Cliff Lake on the East side. As a result, Frerichs and his friends enjoyed a dinner in which turtle soup was the principal course.

Frerichs was fishing near Center- ville station when he saw the turtle sunning itself at the water's edge. He thrust a stick at the snapper and it grabbed it. It refused to let go, which served Frerichs' purpose very well. The turtle pulled one way and Frerichs another, and Frerichs was victorious. He landed the turtle on the bank and tied it securely with rope.

Liberian Palms.

There are a number of interesting species of palms in Liberia, but the most important are the fan palm, the raffia or bamboo palm, the cocconut palm and the oil palm.

Rock County Property's True Value Fixed at $70,926,319

Estimated true valuations of Rock County real and personal property, the figures being based on averages obtained by comparing assessed valuations with the considerations named in sales extending over a period of five years, ending May 1, 1910, show a total increase over 1909 of $2,471,369. The grand total is $70,926,319 of which amount $37,149,099 is assigned to towns and $33,777,220 to cities. Supervisor of Assessments Frank P. Harkness, who has made the compilation, believes that the arbitrary true valuations fixed for each assessment district are as equitable as they can be obtained from the reliable information which is available. The assessment of money, bonds, stocks and other intangible property, he notes, is unsatisfactory as heretofore. A table of comparative valuations, and percentages with the supervisor of assessments has drawn up is appended.

NEW DEPOT RUMORED FOR CUT-OFF CITY

Northwestern Officials Visited Evansville Yesterday and Promised New Passenger Depot It Is Said.

Evansville, Nov. 2.—A company of Northwestern railroad officials on a special train paid a short visit to Evansville this afternoon. The gentlemen composing the party were Gen. A. Gardner, president; R. H. Ashton, vice president; E. Carter, chief engineer; W. J. Towne, engineer in charge; H. C. Cheyney, assistant general freight agent; A. C. Johnson, passenger and traffic manager; L. Carroll, general purchaser agent; and G. R. Vilas, division superintendent. They held a brief consultation with the city council and several of the business men, and it is understood that Evansville is promised a new depot next spring. Probably no city of this size in the state is more in need of a new depot than Evansville. The old structure is entirely inadequate to the needs of the community, and the amount of business transacted here entitles the city to the best of accommodations in the way of a station. It is said that the sale of passenger tickets amounts to considerably over $2,000 per month and that the freight, merchandise and stock shipped in and out bring in a total of more than $9,000 per month for freight.

Telephone Officials.

Alonzo Hurt, president; J. O. Seymour, general manager and W. R. McGovern, engineers, all of Milwaukee and officials of the Wisconsin Telephone company visited Evansville today on a tour of inspection.

Mrs. Wm. Blakely Entertained Ladies of the W. R. C. for Mrs. Ed. Winter Who Goes to South Dakota.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Evansville, Nov. 2.—Yesterday afternoon the ladies of the W. R. C. gathered at the home of Mrs. Wm. Blakely, who acted as hostess in giving a farewell party to Mrs. Ed. Winter, who with her husband will leave next week for Sioux Falls, South Dakota to take up their residence.

Hotel for the Newlyweds

Trenton Man to Open Hostelry in Bermuda for Accommodation of "Newly Married" Couples.

Trenton, N. J.—No more will newly married couples feel discomfort when unable follow the blushing bride and bashful bridegroom as they carry their brand new and shiny suitcases up to the desk of the hotel clerk. A hotel where none but newly-wedded couples will be allowed to register is promised at Trenton.

E. H. Carlisle of Trenton, who is on his way to Bermuda in a 20-foot catboat, accompanied only by 24 hens to lay henhouse eggs, has got the hotel all ready—on paper. He says it will be opened in Bermuda as soon as he and his hens get there. Having run a hotel in New Jersey for some years, Carlisle was driven to pity the embarrassment of honeymooners, and has come to their aid.

Here is the way his circular reads: "Newlywed Hotel, Warwick, East Bermuda. Newly married couples only accommodated. If you pass your honeymoon at Newlywed hotel, it will be a real one, as those about you will be in the same predicament as yours and this will prevent annoyance or embarrassment. All employees were recently married and they know the ropes. The ideal place after marriage. Positively no person married more than two weeks accepted. Rates to suit the rich and poor. Write for full particulars."

Carlisle, when he got sail for Bermuda, said he had no doubt that he would have a hotel full of brides and bridegrooms before Christmas.

"Why, I have already several applications for accommodations," he declared, "and I know everything will run smoothly. I am a bachelor, but I intend as soon as the first visitors arrive to become a benefactor, so nothing will be out of the picture, as it were. I shall make my guests feel as comfortable as they would be at home."

"Some may think I am eccentric, because I first start for Bermuda in a catboat with chickens for a crew and then intend to open a 'newlywed' hotel, but I'm not. I simply have my hobbies and I got a lot of fun out of them. What more does a man want?"

though the District Attorney of Dane County, after the investigation was completed, has publicly stated that "the charge of a frame-up was a falsehood" and that "the charges were well founded, although at this time no warrant can be issued." I have overconfidence that time will bring all the facts in this case before the people and clear myself of the charges connected therewith. But I think that any citizen of the State of Wisconsin who believes in plain honesty in politics should investigate C. H. Crowne's connection with the "stamped envelope case" before casting their vote for him for Attorney General.

It has been estimated that at least twenty stamped envelopes were taken from different departments of the state and used in the Tucker campaign, and that the value of that number is between four and five hundred dollars. Any person who attempts to conceal such a crime against the State of Wisconsin is not worthy of the suffrage of the people. I do not believe that the facts in this case were ever fully laid before Senator LaFollette. If they had been, it is certain that an entire different course of action would have been pursued.

I was not on the LaFollette slate in my candidacy for Attorney General, nor was I on the Stetson slate; the Stetson objection to me was that I had always supported Senator LaFollette, and those who were on the LaFollette slate objected to me because I attended, not as a delegate, but as a spectator, the Taft Convention for a couple of hours at Milwaukee last summer; both statements are true. Almost the entire press of the State of Wisconsin was against my candidacy, and I received only forty-seven thousand votes as a plain republican in this factious campaign.

The last two or three weeks I have met a great many republicans who say that they will not vote the republican ticket at all this year, that they "believe that the capital needs a cleaning out." I find other fine long republicans who say that they will vote for all the republican state ticket with the exception of L. H. Bancroft and I find others again who say that the only republican state candidate whom they will vote for is L. H. Bancroft. Perhaps they say these things to me because they think that I am disgraced as the result of the last primary; but my answer is that this year, I shall vote the republican ticket from top to bottom.

I shall vote for Judge Bancroft for Attorney General because as an opponent of mine at the primary he fought openly, fairly, fearlessly and squarely; because he has been declared the regular republican nominee by the supreme court of Wisconsin; because he has declared through the press that he will support the state platform of the republican party, and the other state candidates, and that he is willing to go upon the stump as a republican and will there support the republican platform and ticket. I am not very well acquainted with Mr. Bancroft personally, but I know that he has been elected Judge of the county where he has always lived; that he has been sent to the legislature more than once, and judging from the vote cast in Richland County the majority of the people have confidence in him. He may have made some uncomplimentary remarks in reference to Senator LaFollette, but the most eloquent speech that I ever heard in defense of Senator LaFollette was made by Mr. Bancroft at Rio, Wisconsin, some years ago. Since that time there has been a rupture between Mr. Bancroft and the Senator and Mr. Bancroft may or may not be honest for the attorney. But we know that he is a brilliant lawyer. He says that he will stand by the rules of the primary, and saying that, he cannot oppose in any way the election of LaFollette to the United States Senate, and he must open his statements, stand by the wishes of the people as indicated by their vote at the primary. I believe that the republican party has a fight on its hands in the state this year. There is danger of losing two of the republican congressmen, also the entire state ticket, and I believe it is time for all who believe in the fundamental principles of the republican party to discard their petty factional differences and work for and vote the straight republican ticket.

WIND SCATTERS MUCH MONEY

Playful Breeze Strews Roll of Bank Bills Over Public Square—Finally Restored.

Portsmouth, N. H.—The long cherished dream of the hobbs, a roll of money, was actually realized in Lincoln square in a savor storm of extraordinary variations and peaceful phases. Weary Willie was not on hand to grasp the opportunity, and had he been it is doubtful, unless he had been exceedingly active, if he would have been any the richer, for Miss Mary Page laid claim to the greenbacks that fell upon the square and were being blown about like chaff before the wind.

Miss Page, with a companion, had just stepped out of the bank with $800 in bills in her hand, when a gust of wind took the roll and sent the bills all over the street like so many scraps of waste paper. There was $5 bill in the lot of less value than $50, and it is needless to say that $50 and $100 bills floating about in the wind created a sensation in the neighborhood. The young women naturally were disturbed, but many citizens under the supervision of a policeman came to the rescue and succeeded in restoring all the money to the owner.

A minor to the effect that the lumber yard was in flames spread throughout the city. The blaze was extinguished with chemicals and no great damage was done, though portions of the office were badly scorched. It was necessary to force the door and this was done by Officer Thomas Morrissey.

CHAPTER XIII—Continued.

WITH this Burnham tipped back in his chair and brought forth a wallet from which he drew a sheet of paper and several bills.

"Five hundred dollars!" repeated Graham, thunderstruck by this mound-

"Yes, sir, five hundred, cash. To tell you the truth—guess you don't know it—I heard at the bank that they didn't intend to extend the time on that note of yours, and I thought this five hundred would come in handy and kind of wanted to help you out. Now, what do you say?"

He flourished the bills under Graham's nose and waited, entirely at ease as to his answer.

"Well," said the old man, "it is kind of you, sir—very kind. Everybody's been good to me recently, or else I'm dreamin'."

"Then it's a bargain?"

"Why, I hope it won't lose any money for you, Mr. Burnham. Sam hesitated, with his inordinable sense of fairness and square dealing. "Making gas from crude oil ought to be."

Duncan never heard the end of that speech. For some moments he had been listening intently, trying to recollect something. The name of Burnham plucked a string on the instrument of his memory. He knew he had heard it some place, some time in the past, but how or when or in re-

CUTICURA CURED FAMILY OF ECZEMA

Father, Mother and Child had it for 8 Months. Heads Mass of Sores. Could Not Sleep. Itching Terrible. Cured in 2 Months.

"The Cuticura treatment has absolutely cured me and family of eczema which I, my wife and two-year-old child had for eight months. It started with small pimples on the head of my child which gradually broke out in sores, and it was not long before I and my wife got the same. Our heads were one mass of sores, we could not sleep and the itching was terrible. We suffered for eight months. We tried different kinds of ointments and medicine but it did us no good and soon it began to break out on our bodies until a friend who had used the Cuticura Remedies in the treatment of torturing, disfiguring humors of the skin and scalp, of infants, children and adults. A single hot bath with Cuticura and a gentle anointing with Cuticura ointment are often sufficient to afford immediate relief in the most distressing cases and permit rest and sleep when all else fails. Cuticura Soap and Ointment are equally effective in preserving, purifying and beautifying the skin, scalp, hair and hands and in preventing minor eruptions becoming chronic. spect to what he could not make up his mind. It had required Sam's reference to gas and crude oil to close the circuit. Then he remembered. Kellogg had mentioned a man by the name of Burnham who was "on the track of" an important invention for making gas from crude oil. This must be the man Burnham, the tracker, and poor old Graham must be the tracked.

Without warning Duncan ran round and made himself an uninvited third to the conference.

"Mr. Graham, one moment!" he begged, excited. "Is this patent of yours on a process of making gas from crude oil?"

Burnham looked up impatiently, frowning at the interruption, but Graham was all good humor.

"Why, yes," he started to explain; "it's that burner over there that—"

"But I wouldn't sell it just yet if I were you," said Nat. "It may be worth a good deal."

"Now, look here!" Burnham got to his feet in anger. "What business have you got butting into this?" he demanded, putting himself between Duncan and the inventor.

"Me?" Duncan queried simply. "Only just because I'm a business man. If you don't believe it ask Mr. Graham."

"He's got a perfect right to advise me, Mr. Burnham," interposed Graham, rising.

"Well, but—what objection 've you got to his making a little money out of this patent?" Burnham blustered.

"None, only I want to look into the matter first. I think it might be—advisable."

"What makes you think so?" demanded Burnham, his tone withering.

"Well," said Nat, with an effort summing his faculties to cope with a matter of strict business, "it's this way. I've got an idea," he said, pointing at Burnham with the forefinger which had proved so effective with Pete Willing, "that you wouldn't offer 500 iron men for this burner unless you expected to make something big out of it, and it ought to be worth just as much to Mr. Graham as to you."

"Ah, you don't know what you're talking about."

"I know that," Nat admitted simply. "But I do happen to know you're promoting a scheme for making gas from crude oil, and if Mr. Graham will listen to me you won't get his patent until I've consulted my friend Henry Kellogg."

"Kellogg?"

"Yes, you know—of L. J. Bartlett & Co."

Nat's forehead continued to do deadly work. Burnham backed away from it as from a fiery brand.

"Oh, well," he said, dashed, "if you're representing Kellogg—and Nat took care not to refute the implication—"I don't want to interfere. Only," he pursued at random in his discomfiture, "I can't see why he sent you here."

"I'd be ashamed to tell you," Nat returned with an open smile. "Better ask him."

Burnham gathered his wits together for a final thrust. "That's what I will do," he threatened. "And I'll do it the minute I can see him. You can bet on that, Mr. What's-your-name?"

"No, I can't," said Nat naively. "I'm not allowed to gamble."

His ingenuous expression exasperated Burnham. The man lost control of his temper at the same moment that he acknowledged to himself his defeat.

"Oh, there's no use talking to you!" "That's right," Nat agreed fairly.

"But I'll see you again, Mr. Graham!"

"Not alone, if I can help it, Mr. Burnham," Duncan amended sweetly.

"But," Burnham continued, severely ignoring Nat and addressing himself squarely to Graham, "you take my tip and don't do any business with this fellow until you find out who he is."

He flung himself out of the shop with a barked "Good day!"

"Well, Mr. Graham?" Duncan turned a little apprehensively to the inventor.

"Margaret used to talk that way sometimes," he remarked. "She was the best woman in the world—and the wisest. She used to take care of me and protect me from my foolish impulses, just as you do, my boy."

For a space Duncan kept silent, respecting the old man's memories and a great deal humbled in spirit by the parallel Sam had drawn. Then, "I was afraid what I said would sound queer to you, sir," he ventured—"that you mightn't understand that I'm not here to do you out of your invention."

"There's nothing on earth, my boy"—Graham's hand fell on Nat's arm—"that could make me think that. But $500, you see, would have repaid you for taking up that note, and—I could have bought Natty a new dress for the party. But I'm sure you've done what's best. You're a business man!"

"Don't!" Nat pleaded wildly. "I've been called that so much of late that it's beginning to hurt."

The old man turned away sadly, lighted a candle and went down into the cobwebby cellar to patch a broken window.

CHAPTER XIV.

"THE way he's worked!" Sam Graham said to me that night about Duncan. "You'd hardly believe it, Homer. He said he wanted to get home early so's to write a letter to a friend of his in New York, a Mr. Kellogg, junior member of L. J. Bartlett & Co., about my invention. But he insisted on leaving everything to rights for business tomorrow. And just look!"

"But I thought Roland Barnette!" I suggested with gusto. Of course I'd heard a rumor of what had happened—almost every one in town had—and how Roland and his friend Mr. Burnham had sort of fallen out on the way from the Rigelow House to the train, but no one knew anything definite, and I wanted to get "the rights of it," as Radville says.

So I had dropped in at Graham's on

He stopped short, peering through the gloom. "Good evening, but—Mr. Littlejohn? Glad to see you. Aren't you late?"

Feet Tired—So Tired?

TIZ Makes Sick Feet Well; No Matter What Ails Them.

TIZ acts at once and makes tired, aching, swollen feet remarkably fresh and sore proof.

It's the sure remedy, you know, for everything that gets the matter with your feet. It's for sore feet and for sweaty, bad-smelling feet, and for corns, callouses and bunions, too.

"Four years I have been troubled with sore and tender feet; suffered intense pains. Here and the excellence of phosgene with relief. I bought a box of TIZ, which struck a perfect cure, as it has with a great many of my friends. I would not be without it. It is a remedy to be known to be unconditionally good."—A. F. Deuster, Chicago.

TIZ is not a powder. Powders and other foot remedies clog up the pores. TIZ draws out all poisonous exhalations which bring on soreness of the feet, and is the only remedy that does. TIZ cleans out every pore and restores the feet—your feet. You'll never limp again or draw up your face in pain, and you'll forget about your corns, bunions and callouses. You'll feel like a new person.

TIZ is for sale at all druggists, 25 cents per box, or it will be sent you direct, if you wish, from Walter Lutter Dodge & Co., Chicago, Ill.

PUT LAYING DATES ON EGGS

Washington Poultrymen Decide to Allow Only Fresh and Normal Sized Product to Be Sold.

Walla Walla, Wash.—The reputation of the home of Walla Walla valley is to be saved. If a consumer buys a Walla Walla egg hereafter he is requested to look for the date. It will find it stamped on the outside in neat roman letters in red ink, and if the date is old and the egg is not fresh it is the buyer's fault.

The dated egg is the result of the deliberations of the Walla Walla Poultry association.
 They have decided to allow no undersized eggs to be placed on sale, and they will date every case of eggs and each individual egg.

The hen owner will hereafter go gathering eggs with a rubber stamp in one hand and an egg basket in the other.

Having ascended to the henroft, he will pick up an egg that lies beside the china decoy and quickly stamp the date thereon. If the hen places another egg there on the morrow the date will be changed.

Twins Mothers Same Day.

New York.—Mrs. Max Mittleman, 240 East Fourteenth street, and Mrs. George Waxman, 643 Lanox avenue, are twins. Their mother, Mrs. Yettie Sigel, has given birth to three sets of twins. Recently, Mrs. Mittleman became a mother, and on the same day Mrs. Waxman also gave birth to a child.

The Waxman baby was a girl, and Mr. and Mrs. Waxman named her Hannah.
 At 240 East Fourteenth street, where the other baby arrived, the proud parents bestowed the name of Abraham on their firstborn.
 The mothers of these children were married on the same day.

Stops a Cough in Five Minutes by the Clock.

Does This Harmless Home-Made Cough Syrup.

MAKE A PINT CHEAP.

Here is told how to make a home-made pint of cough syrup cheaply, which has been known to stop a cough in five minutes by the clock. It relieves quickly and certainly brings about a cure, by its tonic laxative action and therefore is superior to ordinary preparations, which only relieve, and then aggravate by their stimulating effects.
 One dose is not excessive, but 8 to 10 doses daily create a mild laxative action and it is said that you can feel the medicine working on the lungs, throat and bronchial tubes, giving a grand feeling of freedom and strength to the entire system.
 Any one can make a full pint very cheaply. Omit one of your druggist's sale boxes, a 25-cent package of essence, menthol-laxative. Empty it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with a home-made syrup composed of one pint of granulated sugar and a half pint of boiling water. When the syrup is cool add it to the menthol-laxative.
 The dose is a teaspoonful 8 to 10 times daily or as required. Give children less according to age. It is perfectly harmless.
 This is a pleasant, lasting and quick-acting remedy, tried by all who have tried it.

Evil of Gossiping.
 Three old women with a teapot between them can ruin the reputation of a saint.—W. E. Reddick.

Deafness Cannot be Cured.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedial treatment, which is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness caused by catarrh that cannot be cured by local treatment. Send for circulars, free.

Pig Lived Long Without Food.

How to Give Advice.
 A man takes contradiction and advice much more easily than people think, only he will not bear it when violently given, even though it be well founded. Hearts are flowers; they remain open to the softly falling dew, but shut up in the violent downpour of rain.—J. P. Richter.

Too Much Selfishness.
 One of the reasons why the present age is said to be so exceptionally dismal is that so many men and women give themselves up to selfishness. Selfishness is the secret of unhappiness.

No Wonder He Thrived.
 Willie lived in a family where everything was sacrificed. The word was rather too big for him to remember, but he thought he got near enough to it when he answered the lady's question, "How is the baby?" with "He's growing fine, ma'am; he gets cultured milk."

That Way They Are.
 "Most of these affinity quarrels between wives and husbands are in the funny papers, aren't they?" "They are if you wish to refer to court records as funny papers."—St. Louis Star.
